Terms and Conditions

Terms and conditions: Listthe.com as well as the consulting services are offered by Listthe UG (Haftungsbeschränkt). Part of your provided information will be forwarded to factories as part of the sourcing process. Which information of yours may be forwarded will be planned together. Listthe is a sourcing & procurement consulting company helping customer arrange international productions. All liabilities lie only between exporter and importer. The importer and the introduced supplier are liable for quality, delivery and product safety. We do not consult on import regulations, product safety or product liability laws of your country. Please always make sure to follow your countries import regulations and that all products are aligned with your country's quality and safety requirements. We may contact you, if there are further questions about your inquiry. You will receive emails of which you can opt-out at any time, regarding factory news, company news and supportive learnings on how to outsource.

By filling in and submitting this form, you agree to our terms and conditions.
